

Fi's mum and FEES Fund trustee Vicki Caldwell has been involved in developing a number of learning resources inspired by Fi's gift of organ donation.

Vicki shares, "I think Fi would approve of all these projects and initiatives and by all the positive things that have been done by her friends and family to celebrate her gift of organ donation at the end of her life."

Vicki shares the development of these learning resources that have felt a positive way to channel grief, "talking and writing about Fi doesn't make me feel sadder." I have learnt so much and I am grateful to colleagues at the Open University, and the teams involved in helping to produce these high quality resources.

The films, podcast and written narrative are an opportunity to hear the voice of bereaved parents directly - a voice that is often hidden. As a society we can find it uncomfortable to hear the voices of bereaved parents, particularly when a traumatic accident has resulted in a sudden death. Please note: there is emotionally challenging content.

Please following the links below if the time is right for you, and you are interested in finding out more about the learning resources that have been inspired by Fi and her family's experience of organ donation.

BBC Ideas: (2022): Should Human Kidneys be bought and sold?
<https://www.bbc.co.uk/ideas/videos/should-human-kidneys-be-bought-and-sold/p0bgz6yf?playlist=made-in-partnership-with-the-open-university> (Accessed Dec 2022)
Vicki Caldwell contribution - Academic consultant

Caldwell, Vicki (2022) A Gift of life at the end of life. Available at Open learn A gift of life at the end of life - OpenLearn - Open University
Vicki Caldwell's contribution: Author

Caldwell, Vicki (2022) Organ Donation: hope and transition after an unexpected death : Episode 20 Claire Fuller Advance Care Planning. Release date May 2022 . Available at <https://www.speakformelpa.co.uk/podcast-episode-20>
Vicki Caldwell's contribution: Podcast guest

Caldwell, V (2021) 'A Postcard from my dad': A Narrative of what he taught me about death, loss, and grief', in Borgstrom, E and Mallon, S. (ed) Narratives of Covid: loss dying and grief during covid 19. Milton Keynes: Open University, P167-173 (also available as free ebook)
Vicki Caldwell's contribution: Author